Lecture 1: The coconut problem

In this first lecture, we look a mathematical object and try to understand it. We look at the following problem: (it appeared in a "Spiegel article" in the summer of 2017):

> 100 monkeys get 1600 coconuts. Prove that there are at least 4 monkeys which get the same number of nuts.